

"BISMARCK" DEMOLISHED AND SENT TO BOTTOM OF OCEAN; FINISHING STROKE DEALT AS SHIP CIRCLES AIMLESSLY

RAF Planes Played Major Part in Downing One of Newest Battleships of Hitler's Fleet—Revenge for Sinking of British Cruiser "Hood"—Germans Give Up
Crew of Over 1,000 for Lost

(By Earl Reeves, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 27—Tracked down by all available British ships and planes, the 35,000-ton German battleship Bismarck was demolished and sent to the bottom of the Atlantic today in revenge for sinking of the British battle-cruiser Hood.

The Bismarck, launched in February, 1939, was crippled by aerial torpedoes.

Her propellers smashed, her gear out of control, the Bismarck was circling aimlessly somewhere in the North Atlantic when the finishing stroke was dealt.

It was believed that credit for the sinking would go to RAF planes of the coastal command. They obviously played a major part in downing one of the best and newest ships in Hitler's redoubtable fleet.

Pending further details, it was not known if the ship struck her flag or went down fighting. If the former was the case, naval officials said, some or all of the crew may be saved. Otherwise at least a thousand men lost their lives.

Lloyds of London followed tradition by ringing the famed Lutine bell to announce the victory. This capital suddenly took on a mardi gras atmosphere.

BERLIN, May 27—Overwhelmed by superior force, the 35,000-ton German battleship Bismarck went down in the north Atlantic today, the Swastika flying from her masthead and every workable gun still blazing until water closed over her deck.

The Nazi dreadnaught which on Saturday sank the British battle cruiser Hood, together with Vice-Admiral Günther Lütjens and her crew of more than 1,000, were given up for lost.

Last word from Lütjens was that his ship was drifting helplessly with smashed propellers at a point beyond the aid of Luftwaffe bombers.

Asks Over 3 Billion For Fighting Planes

Washington, May 27—President Roosevelt today asked Congress to appropriate $3,319,000,000 for new fighting planes for the army and navy.

The program approved by Mr. Roosevelt, superimposed on the staggering load already undertaken, contemplates $2,790,000,000 for army planes, and $529,000,000 for navy planes.

Facts Unearthed By Sinking of "Bismarck"

Sinking of the German battleship Bismarck by British units in the North Atlantic today brought to light a number of hitherto unknown facts about the battle of the Atlantic:

1. The new British battleship Prince of Wales, a sister ship of the King George Fifth which carried Viscount Halifax to the United States, is now in service and participated in the Bismarck duel. Both displace 35,000 tons.
2. The King George Fifth, according to a German communiqué, was damaged in the battle.
3. The German battleship Tirpitz, launched a few weeks after the Bismarck, now is ready for service and will "fill the gap" left by the Bismarck.

British To Abandon Plans For Irish Conscription

LONDON, May 27—The British Government was stated authoritatively today to have abandoned plans to introduce conscription for military service in Northern Ireland.

The project was dropped after Premier De Valera of Eire denounced the conscription plan and bluntly declared it would reduce relations between Britain and Eire to their former "unhappy" state.

British Take Grave View of Crete

LONDON, May 27—Authoritative British circles took a grave view today of the situation in embattled Crete, where heavy fighting was still reported in progress.

The situation in Crete "must be regarded as very serious," they declared. Latest reports from Cairo said the Nazis held a 10-mile front from Maleme airport to the capital city of Candia. The advisers said that the Germans were concentrating virtually all their forces in this sector, where fighting was reaching a "crescendo of fury."

May Investigate Boxing In U. S.

Washington, May 27—Rep. Carter, R. Cal., said today that there is serious consideration in Congress of introducing a resolution calling for an investigation of boxing on a national scale.

Angered at the Buddy Baer-Joe Louis fight during which Baer was hit after the bell and then disqualified because his handlers would not leave the ring, Carter wanted to know if D. C. boxing commission is going to "condone" Referee Arthur Donovan for disqualifying the challenger.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

The Morrell Smith Post, American Legion, has arranged for Memorial Day exercises in the borough of Newtown.

On Friday previous to the parade the graves of soldiers of all wars will be decorated with flowers by the Legion and the Sons of Veterans.

On Friday morning at nine, members of the Post will meet at the Post Rooms to march with the Newtown High School bands to St. Andrew's R. C. Cemetery, where services will be held over the grave of Comrade O'Sullivan, at 9.30.

Included in the line of march will be the lone surviving Civil War veteran, Charles Duckworth, the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, Sons of Veterans, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Cubs and Firemen, and other service men who desire to participate.

From St. Andrew's Cemetery the march will be to Center avenue, south on State street to Sterling to Chancellor, to Washington and east on Washington avenue to cemetery.

Services at the cemetery will be conducted over the grave of James Craven, Civil War veteran, and Comrade Claude Bateman, World War veteran.

Following these rites a meeting will be held in the cemetery chapel presided over by Robert Kenderdine, of the Sons of Veterans. The guest speaker will be Harold Morrison Smith, dean of Bordentown Military Institute.

Approximately 250 persons attended the sale of personal property of the estate of Chester Fretz, Sellersville. Harvey Hunsicker, Perkasi, who purchased the home and personal property, said good prices were realized. Parlor rugs went for $53 and $48, and a dining room suite brought $100 and a 3-piece living room suite was sold for $30.

Recently-elected officers were installed at a largely attended meeting of the Warrington Junior Women's Club on Friday at the home of Miss Esther J. MacMartin, Tradesville. The installation ceremony was conducted in the presence of about 30 members by Mrs. John L. Fox.

The officers are as follows: President, Miss Jane Tufts; vice-president, Miss Ethel Haldeman; recording secretary, Mrs. Walter Hoffman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Houston; treasurer, Miss Alva Miller; directors, Mrs. Clyde Hutchcroft, Mrs. G. Atlee Cadwallader and Miss Edith Krout, and senior advisor, Mrs. E. Carl Kohler.

The annual Doylestown Nature Club's flower show was staged on Friday in the attractive garage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. James, Doylestown.

Eighty-nine exhibitors were represented in the show, which was held on the first and second floor of the garage, proving that members of the oldest nature club in this section know how to grow flowers and then arrange them just as stunningly.

On the second floor, where were located the lighted niches, which were electrically illuminated, there were about ten exhibits in this class. Striking prize winners were Mrs. Alfred E. Hodshon, New Britain, who exhibited white gladioli with single white peonies on a flat pewter container, and Mrs. Ralph T. McComas, Spring Valley, who exhibited double oriental poppies with silver-tinged foliage in a beige tone flat dish.

Oriental and colorful was Mrs. David Burpee's exhibit which was a pineapple, hollowed out, and filled with nasturtiums and graceful beet tops. The judges were Mrs. Bruce Moyer, Lansdale; Mrs. Lester Johnson, North Wales, and Mrs. Russell Moyer, Lansdale.

Where Fleetwings' Addition
Will Be Built

WILL CROSS CANAL

Preparatory steps toward the erection of the big addition to the plant of Fleetwings, Inc., got underway here yesterday when caterpillar "bulldozers" and graders swung into action. The big machines were put to work grading the right-of-way for the Pennsylvania railroad siding which is to extend from the main line of the P. R. R. at a point near the P. R. R. electric substation to the tract recently purchased by Fleetwings. The tract is what is locally known as the Estate of Benjamin Larzelere, on Beaver Dam Road in Bristol Township.

The graders leveled off the right-of-way for the siding and mowed down trees and bushes which happened to be in the way. The siding is to be located on the

MARL CHARCOAL PITS SEEN ON A FIELD TRIP

Bucks Co. Natural Science
Members Have Most Interesting Journey

THROUGHOUT N. JERSEY

The Jersey field day sponsored by Bucks County Natural Science Association, on Saturday, proved to be of great variety of interest. J. Wilmer Lundy, Newtown, planned and conducted the trip most efficiently.

The first stops touched upon history, namely at a farm a mile from Rancocas, where the son of Benjamin Franklin, the last colonial governor of New Jersey, lived. Later a school for boys, the Franklin School, was on the property. The second stop was at Rancocas Meeting House which bore the date 1772. Part of the house is said to be much older than this. Red bricks were mostly used in the building, but the blue brick for which early Jersey is noted are found in the front mingled with the red. The interior of the house still speaks of the past—the benches having neither paint nor varnish. In strange contrast, a piano and an organ have a place among the benches for First Day School use.

Attention was next turned at the Zeolite Company near Kirby's Mill to "Geology" in a talk given by Frederick Schirner, director of the company which has been operating since 1918. Millions of years ago, he said, that section of Jersey was below sea level. Finally there was a tilting and an outcropping. This "Marl" or green sand strata extends through Jersey south to Washington and on into Texas but in the last state it is only 5 per cent pure, while in New Jersey it is 90 per cent pure. Near Atlantic City, the Marl is 1800 feet below the surface, while at the Zeolite plant it comes to the surface and extends 90 feet down but only an 8 feet bed is used. In this deposit which is made up of fossils of tiny ocean creatures—of pin-head size—there have been found fossils of larger animals and many pieces of petrified wood. Mr. Schirner exhibited a

ANDALUSIA RESIDENT IS GIVEN ACQUITTAL IN AN ACCIDENT CASE

Evidence In Case of Wm. W.
Roberston "Did Not Warrant Conviction"

KUZMIK IS CONVICTED

Newportville Resident, Richard Waterhouse, Also Goes On Trial

DOYLESTOWN, May 27—John Kuzmik, 24, of Perkasi, R. D., was convicted yesterday in Bucks County Court on a charge of drunken driving. Although Kuzmik was not involved in an accident, and in spite of the fact that this was his first offense, Judge Calvin S. Boyer reprimanded the motorist for "lying and perjuring yourself." The sentence imposed was a fine of $150 and costs, and from two months to two years in the Bucks county prison. His driver's license was also revoked.

Two times during the trial which started yesterday morning, Kuzmik was advised by his attorney to plead guilty, but Kuzmik claimed he was not drunk, and refused to plead guilty. Jurge Boyer in addressing him said: "The jury found that you lied, and the court agrees with the jury in the findings," to which Kuzmik replied "I didn't lie." At this point his attorney, John L. duBois, told the defendant not to talk back to the judge, at the same time informing Kuzmik that he had talked himself into a sentence.

A resident of Whittier avenue, Andalusia, William W. Robertson, who was charged with failure to give his name and address to a person struck at the scene of an accident, and who also was charged with failure to exhibit his operator's license at the scene of an accident, was acquitted yesterday afternoon. Judge Boyer directed the jury to return such verdict, and the costs were placed on the county. Herman Dressler, 65, of Andalusia, testified that he was run down on November 10, 1940, near his home by the defendant, who lives two doors from Dressler. The latter was in the hospital for 17 days, he suffering two broken ribs. As the evidence did not warrant conviction as charged the costs were placed on the county.

Richard Waterhouse, Newportville, a truck driver, went on trial yesterday afternoon before a jury and Judge Boyer, the charge being that of drunken driving. The first witness for the commonwealth in the case was Harry Hibbs, Andalusia, who testified that his car was parked off the highway near an Andalusia store on March 8th, when it was hit by a truck operated by

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Goats

Washington, May 26.

TWO things concerning the 1942 tax bill are being said in what the "cosmic columnists," as Mr. Pegler calls them, like to refer to as "informed circles." One is that the bill will not be passed until late in August; the other, that under it those unfortunate individuals in what is known as the lower and middle brackets probably will have to pay close to three times as much taxes next year as they had to pay this year.

—O—

THERE are some 6,300,000 of these, and there is nothing in the prospect to make them rush up on the roof to cheer. They, of course, will not be ruined; but it is too much to expect them to be happy over a three hundred per cent increase the year after they have had a fifty per cent increase. It is quite obvious that the bulk of the increased tax burden is going to be placed on their backs. Nevertheless, there are several things that would contribute very greatly to the cheerfulness with which the load could be borne. And there is no excuse for not doing them.

—O—

THE basic thing, of course, is firm and effective action to reduce all normal governmental expenses. No matter what the crisis, no Administration has the right to impose such taxes until it has cut out waste and eliminated all unnecessary expense. No man can be expected to pay such taxes willingly if he knows his money is being thrown away on useless governmental gadgets and absorbed by a horde of parasitic political jobholders. A second thing, equally essential to the spirit of the hard-hit taxpayer, is knowledge that his class is not being made the particular target for the revenue sharpshooters.

—O—

IN other words, he must be convinced that he is not being unfairly

WAR AND THE BIBLE

On the 125th anniversary of the founding of the American Bible Society in New York, its board of managers makes an appeal for additions to its emergency fund for supplying copies of the Scriptures to those afflicted by the war abroad.

The American Bible Society has a long and honorable history. For all its 125 years it has been, in the words of its board, "sole publisher of the Scriptures in 65 languages in Asia, Africa, the Americas, and the Pacific Islands." It has distributed the Scriptures in 254 different languages and dialects.

At no other time in the history of the world have human beings been in such need of the comfort and sustenance to be found in the teachings of the Bible. The American Bible Society would like to know that these are available to the thousands of wounded, homeless, and oppressed people who have faith in the principles of Christian teaching.

SCIENCE AND FOLKLORE

Sometimes it seems as if science is catching up with folklore. The nation now hears on the authority of Dr. Margaret A. Ribble, speaking to the annual convention of the American Psychiatricists, that both mothers and babies have been right all along about the pacifier. Babies need mouth exercise to develop their breathing apparatus, it seems.

Mothers have been right about singing and crooning to a crying baby. The rocking chair and the cradle are okeoke, and the more fondling baby gets, the better.

In short, the eminent psychiatrist endorses about every nursery trick that came from the common sense of the human race, and by implication condemns much modernistic claptrap. Children should not be reared like incubator chicks in brooders, science now says. And there will be many to say: "And you're telling me?"

For there always has been plenty of skepticism about rearing children by blueprint and formula. At the height of the fad, a heretical rhyme composed a ballad about the "Antiseptic Baby and the Prophylactic Pup" that gave solace to rebel souls.

Yes, give science time and it will catch up even with common sense. And come to think of it, quite a spurt is required to overcome a long lead like that. A lot of unscientific babies must have made the grade on this old earth, or who would be here?

PLOWED LONGEST FURROW

John Y. Doak is dead. He lived to attain the age of 92 and died in Maryland, two thousand miles from the scene of the accomplishment that won for him a brief line in history.

What did John Y. Doak do to become famous? He plowed. He plowed the longest furrow of which there is record, and he did it the hard way, with horse power, 62 years ago. It extended for 500 miles from Wilson, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado, and paralleled the Kansas Pacific Railroad tracks.

When a man plows a longer furrow than mortal ever plowed, or ever will, the accomplishment certainly entitles him to the eternal right to acclaim of his fellow men, but brief news items chronicling the death of Doak do not even divulge why he plowed the record furrow, whether it was a railroad project or a contest.

The Great Game of Politics

single out to be squeezed. Treasury statistics unanswerably show that this is exactly what has been done to the lower- and middle-bracket groups by past tax laws. And it is exactly what it is proposed to do in an even greater degree in the 1942 bill. If the present Treasury proposals—or anything like them—are adopted, a person with $4,000-a-year income will have to pay about a thousand per cent. more in taxes than he did in 1929. And so on up the line to the middle-bracket limit. Not until the $15,000 mark is passed is the increase less than some thousands of per cent.

THE plain truth is that those with annual incomes between $2,000 and $15,000 constitute the group which has been hardest hit by taxes in the past and which will be hardest hit in 1942. The rates are increased, though nothing like as much, after $15,000 until the $100,000 bracket is reached. From there on up the increases are negligible. In the highest group of all—the $1,000,000-to-$5,000,000 incomes—there is no increase at all. What this means is that there are two groups of citizens not affected by the new bill. One is composed of married men who make $2,000 a year or less. These, under the present law and under the proposed law, are not taxed at all.

YET more than sixty per cent. of the whole national income is received by them. In direct taxes, they do not pay a nickel. If there is to be a fair distribution of the burden and if adequate revenues are to be raised, it is clearly imperative that these untaxed millions be brought under the income-tax levy. There is no answer to the question of why it isn't done except politics. No one ever offers any other excuse. The other class which will not be hit by additional rate raises in the pending bill is composed of the very rich—the vast majority of whose incomes range from $200,000 to $5,000,000 a year.

IT is true that these are now taxed from sixty-two per cent. on $200,000 to seventy-five per cent. on $5,000,000. But the new bill will raise these rates hardly at all. Of course, sixty-two per cent. of $200,000 is $124,000 and seventy-five per cent. of $5,000,000 is $3,750,000. But if the $200,000 man were taxed seventy-five per cent. and the $5,000,000 man ninety per cent., the first still would have $50,000 a year left after his taxes were paid and the second would have $500,000. It would seem to be enough to keep the wolf from the door in either case. The argument is made that very few individuals would be affected if these rates were increased to that extent and very little more money would be raised. But that does not appear to be true. Treasury figures show 915 men with incomes from $150,000 to $300,000; 208 men with incomes from $300,000 to $500,000; 108 with incomes from $500,000 to $1,000,000, and forty-three with incomes in excess of a million.

THUS, it seems that at least 1,274 immensely wealthy men would be affected, and a conservative estimate is that increased rates on these 1,274 would bring in anywhere from $27,000,000 to $50,000,000. That may not seem much money to some, but, as the late Will Rogers used to say, it certainly is not hay. The net of all this is that the lower- and middle-bracket groups, whom it is proposed to soak three times as hard as before, will have a very just grievance when it develops, as it must, that for purely political reasons more than sixty per cent. of the national income received by the millions who make $2,000 and less is freed from any tax, and that the immensely rich get off with taxes which, large as they seem, do not really hurt at all—in no way affect their standard of living in the way the terrific increases on the $2,000-to-$15,000 men this will affect.

IN brief, the 6,300,000 with incomes from $2,000 to $15,000 a year are being hit far harder than they deserve. The balance of the 7,032,655 total taxpayers—or about 700,000—get off much easier than they are entitled to. These lower- and middle-bracket boys have a right to feel unfairly treated. No wonder they are the most economy-minded of our citizens. They are being made the goats. Perhaps the reason is that they have no great voting solidarity and are unrepresented by any lobby. Those are the two ways to get "protection" in Washington. With neither, one is out of luck.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

HULMEVILLE, May 27—A sedan and a roadster were damaged in a crash on Main street, near the intersection of Hulme street early Sunday evening. The sedan was driven by Dominick Rago, Jefferson avenue, Bristol; and the roadster by Walter Soby, Hulmeville. The Rago car had damaged radiator, broken headlights, and considerable damage to the front bumper. The Soby machine had a spring broken, and a fender was bent. No one was injured. Private Newton, of Pennsylvania Motor Police, investigated the case.

Harrisburg, May 27—State Selective Service headquarters today estimated that between 65,000 and 70,000 Pennsylvanians who have reached the age of 21 since last October 16 will register for army duty July 1, the new registration period.

Officials at state headquarters said plans for the second "M-Day" would be drafted after the receipt of official notification from Washington. It is believed, however, that local boards will handle the registration.

SYNOPSIS

Anthony Worth, Jr., out of a job and really in need of one, is inwardly annoyed when—on a park bench—he reads of the gala life of madcap Marie Schuyler, current Glamour Girl. Her doings during a Mediterranean yachting trip are keeping press cables busy, if not burning. Marie is entertaining some elements of Old World society (and what passes for it) on a luxury cruise. The news mentions Felix Norheim, Marchese Lippi, Major Eric Thelme, Eve Pryme and Ray Sheldon as among her playmates. . . . Tony Worth returns to the modest room of his old friend, Ed Keeler, now in government service. Ed tells him that the distinguished Judge Fairchild is looking for a capable man to do some "special service." Tony and Ed are now en route to Keeler's office.

CHAPTER TWO

A red light held them on the curb. "What do I do?" Tony asked briskly. His pulse was leaping.

Ed Keeler answered, "Plenty! You're in for a trip, trouble and—a beautiful girl."

Tony said, "Give me the trip and the trouble, but cut out the beautiful girl."

Ed Keeler looked at him with a peculiar intenceness. "Perhaps you'll get the idea better when I tell you Judge Fairchild is Marie Schuyler's guardian—I mean the Schuyler gal, the Globe-Trotting Glamour Girl No. 1, the late B. J.'s daughter." He ignored Tony's quick frown.

"She's cruising around Greece with a party on that yacht of hers. Her guardians—she has three—think in the old cliché terms of fortune hunters, and they're scared stiff she'll fall for a title with nothing to back it. They want her brought home pronto."

Ed stabbed in his point with his long forefinger. "They'd be sending an army for her if they knew what our Bureau suspects. Laddy, she's got Felix Norheim on board! And wherever he is, the air reeks of bromine!"

Tony Worth stared at the pavement, then said harshly, "Norheim may be the devil himself for all I care. But if special service means the Schuyler playgal, then I'm out! She's a pest, I read about her cruise and her foreigners. They're welcome to her."

Ed Keeler grabbed his arm. "Don't be a chump! You can't let us down. It's all set."

Tony wrenched away. "Nothing doin', my fan." She's always sticking her neck out for trouble. Let her have it!"

The big fellow stepped in front of him. His voice was suddenly stern. "Listen, ol' pal, Fairchild dropped something big into our laps this morning. But we can't do a thing with it, if you don't play ball. It's going to take all you've got, and then some, to fill this job. I'll put it this way. In two months this playgal, as you call her, comes of age. And she also comes into at least $35,000,000, besides what she has, That's American money."

Tony hesitated, his frown lingering as Ed insisted, "You'd better talk to the Chief. Believe me, we're not inviting you to any picnic." Ed Keeler hooked onto his friend's arm again, and this time Tony Worth didn't resist.

A quiet man, in an unpretentious office, glanced up from behind his desk as the two young men entered. He said, "Judge Fairchild couldn't wait."

It wasn't a reproach, but Keeler flushed to his curly hair and pushed Tony forward, muttering, "We couldn't make it any sooner."

Andalusia Resident Is Given Acquittal In Accident Case

Waterhouse. Elva Hibbs, 15, testified that she saw the defendant's truck swerve into her father's car. She said the man she saw lying in the highway following the accident was the defendant, who was "knocked out." Watson Wright, Andalusia postmaster, and Arthur States, both of whom were at the scene shortly after the crash, testified that they smelled the odor of alcohol on someone, but didn't know on whom. Private John Mitchell, of Pennsylvania Motor Police, who investigated the accident, testified that the defendant was treated for minor injuries to the head, he admitted having three highballs. In Mitchell's opinion Waterhouse was unfit to drive. "His eyes were blood-shot," said Mitchell.

Dr. George T. Fox, Bristol, testified that the defendant suffered contusions, but that there was no evidence of fracture. Said Dr. Fox: "He was intoxicated, and not fit to drive a car. He said to me 'Give me a break if I am, because I can't afford to lose my job.'" Dr. J. Fred Wagner, Bristol, who examined the defendant at the request of Waterhouse because Dr. Wagner was the physician of Mrs. Waterhouse, said the defendant admitted to him he had had three highballs and some beer. Dr. Wagner said: "Intoxication was more the cause of his condition than any head injury."

When Waterhouse took the stand in his own behalf he admitted stopping in a tap room with friends, and admitted drinking, "but not too much." "I watched two cars coming down the road, and because of the lights I guess I got to looking at them too much, and bumped into Mr. Hibbs' car." Robert A. Porter, Croydon, who placed the defendant in an ambulance, said the defendant was not under the influence of intoxicating liquor. "I bathed his head with medicinal alcohol, and that may have caused some fumes." William Beecroft, another witness, testified that in his opinion Waterhouse was not drunk. Edward J. Graham, of Mayfair, said that he had had four beers with the defendant, and that when Waterhouse left Graham the latter said that he was in condition to drive his truck. Warren Pickersgill, Andalusia, who assisted at the time of the accident, also claimed the defendant was not drunk.

John Nelson, Newtown Negro, was recommended to the Bucks County Prison yesterday by President Judge Hiram H. Keller for the balance of an unserved sentence of four months to one year.

Nelson was listed as one of the defendants on the criminal court docket, charged with attempt to kill Henry Thomas, Negro, also of Newtown, with a knife on April 26th this year at Yardley. He had previously been in trouble and sentenced for shooting at a woman. He served four months and was released at the end of his minimum sentence. Nelson was under parole when his latest escapade occurred. He has eight more months to serve.

Thomas testified that Nelson asked him to drive him to Trenton. On the way over and back they stopped and had several drinks in Trenton and Yardley. Thomas told Judge Keller that when he started to leave the Yardley house with Nelson, that the latter came after him with a knife, and that another friend protected him and pushed Nelson down on the ground. Nelson denied that any argument took place and the knife, he was supposed to have, he told the court, was given to another Negro who used it to "cut his toenails." Nelson said they started for Trenton on April 26th to get a haircut but that they used the money for whiskey instead.

Judge Keller yesterday granted a parole to Burnett Larabee, of Bristol RD, who was sentenced on February 10th to six months to two years. Larabee was formerly employed by a Bristol airplane plant, until arrested on a larceny charge. Larabee informed the Court that he had a number of jobs to go to at once.

Edward Grisko, Philadelphia, charged with assault and battery, pleaded guilty before Judge Keller yesterday afternoon. He was sentenced to two months to one year in the County Prison and warned by the Court to keep away from tap rooms after he got out of prison.

James Joseph Litz, 23, Philadelphia, charged with failure to stop a motor vehicle at the scene of an accident on April 5th, in Croydon, was directed to pay the costs and a prison sentence was suspended. His car struck Mrs. Ada Allison, of Croydon, but did not knock her down. Litz admitted that earlier in the day he had taken nine whiskeys and eleven beers but declared that he was "able to drive at the time of the accident."

Drunken drivers who pleaded guilty yesterday at the opening of the May term of criminal court got off without prison sentences but they all had their operator's licenses revoked for one year and were fined.

Abraham Perry, Morrisville, a truck driver who drank two gins with beer chasers at Tullytown before starting out in his car, was fined $150 and costs by Judge Keller.

Edward Courtney, Philadelphia lumber salesman, who drank nine glasses of beer while driving toward Trenton on April 8th, pleaded guilty and received a fine of $150 and costs.

A fine of $200 and costs was imposed on John Nevin, Doylestown accountant, who drank three Martini cocktails on April 4th and then had a slight wreck at Neshaminy.

Andrew Peoples, Jr., Philadelphia, a horse dealer, pleaded guilty to driving while drunk in Doylestown on May 1st. One large whiskey and two beer chasers was his downfall. This cost him $200 and costs.

William Parker, Quakertown, drank two whiskeys with beer chasers on February 27th, causing him to drive into a pole which fell on top of his car near Quakertown. This cost him a fine of $200 and costs for driving while drunk.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

"Blackout," the new spy melodrama which is set in present day London, will have its local premiere at the Bristol Theatre today. With a stellar cast which includes Conrad Veidt and Valerie Hobson, and with Hay Petrie featured in the supporting cast, "Blackout" unrolls a swiftly-moving tale of espionage of today.

Engaging performances by a well-selected cast, a story containing a number of amusing twists and humorous tunes combine to make Universal's "I'm Nobody's Sweetheart Now" refreshing film fare. The attraction opens today at the Bristol Theatre.

GRAND THEATRE

"Men of Boys Town," coming three years after the notable screen achievement of "Boys Town," was worth waiting for. Not in any sense a sequel, because this drama stands on its own merits as one of the most dynamic, heart-warming entertainments of the season, the new picture, again starring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, is at the Grand Theatre.

An Academy Award winner for his performance of Father Edward J. Flanagan in the first story of the priest's City of Little Men, Tracy is once more at his very best, which is the best there is in acting. He cloaks number of sharks' teeth which had been taken from the Marl which he said were 50 million years old. Iron oxide, potash and silica are the main elements of Marl. The potash therein is not in soluble form, but it is available for plant fertilization, but under Jersey law cannot be listed as such because not soluble. The principal use now for Marl is for water softener. The Zeolite Company is at present sending great quantities of the product to government camps.

Lunch had to be eaten hastily, since the program was so extensive, at a spot which deserved a longer stay. New Jersey has rendered a service to the public in the maintenance of its Lebanon State Forest which touches two well-known highways, Routes 40 and S-40. In this large tract of woodland there is probably no place as beautiful as the "Deep Hollow Pond" where picnic tables are provided in a stand of pitch pine near the water's edge.

"Sunning," the home of Miss Elizabeth White, at White's Bog, was reached at 1.20. The hostess knows much of cranberry and blueberry culture in her own right—also in her father's right, he being Joseph J. White, who died in 1924 after having spent 40 years working with these health family plants. Still further back her mother's father, James A. Fesnick, had been one of a dozen early cranberry pioneers around 1860. Among the unusual plants in Miss White's beautiful gardens were Venus Fly Trap, Yellow Pitcher Plant, the better known garnet colored Pitcher Plant, Shortia, Galax Scotch Heather, and Turkey Beard. The sandy, acid, peat soil proved quite acceptable to rhododendron, laurel, sweet bay, German and Siberian iris, inkberry, pyracantha and royal clematis and climbing ferns.

The day's last stop was made at the charcoal burners of the Paynes, near Whiting. There, four cousins, of negro race, are conducting a year-round business. Two brothers, Oscar and Harry Payne, answered numerous questions as to the pit's construction. Some 70 logs of six-foot lengths of pine, mostly Jersey scrub, are used in each pit. Then these pine holes are covered entirely with sandy soil and the central guide pole is removed and a fire started therein. A row of draught holes being soon made near the bottom of the huge mound. It takes five to eight days to burn a pit depending on weather conditions. One pit produces about three tons of charcoal which is put in bags ready for delivery, mostly to New York or Philadelphia. Chewing gum, tooth cleansers, medicinal uses, purifiers of water were

JIMMY HOPKINS OUTLASTS TED DEVOE IN HURLERS' DUEL AS BRISTOL WINS SECTIONAL CROWN; SCORE, 3-2

Wendell Tazik Dives Deep for Hard Hit Line Drives at Short-stop Post to Halt Two Opposite Owl Bingles — Ruby's Clutch Triple Decides the Issue in The Fourth Inning

By Jack W. Gill

Little Jimmy Hopkins wound up a brilliant league season of schoolboy pitching at Landreth Field last night by hurling his Bristol High School nine to a clean cut decision over Bensalem by a 3 to 2 tally. Hopkins, completely the master of the situation, flogged his curve and outshoot past Bensalem batters with a smooth flowing motion symbolic of ease as his mates gave him fine support in the game that decided the Lower Division championship.

He had to be good to defeat the Owls' big left-handed ace, Ted Devoe, who had the misfortune to groove two balls. One was to freshman Herby Yates, who lifted a long fly to center that brought in a marker. The other heave was a pitch that Paul Ruby caught hold of for a triple in the fourth canto.

Outside of that, this fray was an old time pitchers' battle. Hopkins, who started the season off for the Cardinals rather slow, came through with some great games during the final drive. In the past twenty-one innings he has allowed the opposition but four runs.

Last night he had his curve breaking past the Blue and Gray bat bearers sharply. Throughout the course of the game Coach George Reimer urged his men to step up and meet it before it broke. But they still haven't solved the twist.

The triumph came sweet to the Cardinals. Head Coach Tom Campion brought his proteges out of nowhere to a title rating. Slowly but surely building an infield of steady defensive ability, he finally found the combination in Yates, Tazik, Barouth and Mangiaracini. After a season of hard luck in football and basketball, the former Penn State athlete, who hails from Jenkintown, has hit the jack-pot. This Spring the cups signifying the track and baseball championships rest in his grasp. Before he secures possession of the diamond gonfalon, however, he must prime his boys to down either Richboro or New Hope, who are battling for honors in the Upper Division loop.

Wendell Tazik also edges his way in the picture. The shortstop of the local contingent was a smooth article to behold during the twilight tussle as he dug two tough plays out of the dirt to stymie Bensalem rallies. On both occasions the articulate stops came with men on the basepaths. A big night at the bat saw him rap out two safe blows.

Both clubs were nervous at the beginning, but the Bunnies were solid during the first frame with their bats. Joe Accardi led the inning off by knocking one down the right field foul line for a double, playing for one run, which later proved to be the ball game. Campion called for Barouth to sacrifice Accardi to third. The winners repeated this strategy as Boccardo squeezed Accardi home with a neat bunt that Devoe couldn't handle.

It looked like curtains in the fourth. Bensalem laid the wood on Hopkins offerings and assumed a short lived 2 to 1 lead. Strickler rammed out a blistering double to center field. Pete Everett, Bensalem's clean-up swatter, walked. Hank Killian grounded out. Then Devoe nearly won his own ball game by poling a single to center that scored Strickler and Everett.

But big Paul Ruby, sophomore star standing around in right field all evening, took it upon his own to take a hand in the proceedings. This versatile guy has a habit of being around when the chips are riding, a trait that may prove valuable to him during his later athletic career.

Hopkins opened the homesters' half of the fourth with a single over second. Tazik drew a base on balls. Later, Hopkins stole third base. Herby Yates then lifted a high, long fly to center field and Hopkins romped home with the tying run. Then Ruby followed Mangiaracini's whiffing act by laying a clincher down along the right field foul line for a game winning triple. The jig was up and Hopkins settled down to twirl tight ball for the remainder of the contest.

BADENHAUSEN NINE KEEPS IN STRIDE AND DEFEATS AUTO BOYS

Boiler-Makers Win Second Straight Game and Get Out of Cellar

SCORE FIVE IN THE SIXTH

Two-Bagger by Ridgy Wins The Game — Two Were On Bases

The Badenhausen team climbed from the cellar of the Bristol Suburban League last evening by winning over the Auto Boys, 7-5, on Leedom's field. It was the second straight win for the boiler-makers and placed them in a deadlock with the Odd Fellows for seventh place.

The Cornwells nine won the tilt by scoring five times in the sixth and all this was done with but two hits. In fact, during the entire game, Badenhausen had but five hits to its credit.

A two-bagger by Harvey Ridgy won his own game. Ridgy came to the bat in the sixth with Whyte and Naylor on base and socked a double to left to admit both.

The Auto Boys scored a trio of tallies in their part of the sixth but the damage had been done and Manager Morgan saw his hopes for the first half championship grow dimmer and dimmer.

ROHM & HAAS SCORES SEVEN RUNS IN THIRD

Scoring seven times in the third inning, the Rohm and Haas team added another win to its list by trampling the Volt-Texaco team, 8-0, on the Maple Beach diamond. The chemical workers, as the result of the win, moved into a deadlock with Edgely for second place honors.

Six hits, two passes, and a hit batsman accounted for the markers. Larry David had a pair of hits in the uprising while Jimmy Massilla was not recorded a time at bat, getting a pass and being hit with a pitched ball. The batting orgy also saw the demise of "Vince" Boccardo from the hill with Hal Shackleton finishing.

While all this was going on, Wils Holland had an easy time toying with the gasoleers. He allowed but four hits and set down nine via the strike-out route. His control was excellent as he did not issue a free ticket to first. Only in the third was Holland in any danger of being scored up as the Volt team had runners on second and third but he got Carter on a fly to center for the third out. Holland then proceeded to retire the next twelve batters in order.

Harrison did fine work in centerfield for the winners, shagging three flies which seemed certain to drop for hits.
